What The 2019
Legislative Session
Means For Us

A Special
Message From
ASSEMBLYMAN CHRIS
Tague

2019 was the most hurtful and progressive legislative session in New York State history.

While the administration here in New York continues its assault on hardworking families, I have repeatedly affirmed our commitment to protecting struggling, middle-class families.

It's about time Albany put our families first.

With an increasingly hostile administration in state government, we need to ensure New York is a safe haven for everyone who is looking to lay down roots here, work hard, and raise a family.

Partisan politics has held our state back from achieving greatness because some lawmakers won't stop focusing on what's happening in Washington. That's why I'll never stop fighting to put our families first.

- Lower Taxes
- Help Struggling Legal Families Pay For Higher Education Before Undocumented Immigrants
- Protect Our Family Farms From Hurtful & Business-Ending Policies Passed By Some State Lawmakers
- Increase Access To Broadband
- Invest In Rebuilding And Repairing Our Roads & Bridges

“It’s imperative that New York does not continue in its progressive direction so we can offset the backward and harmful policies coming from some Albany lawmakers.”
